THE DANSANT AT JEFFERSON GIVEN BY GIRLS' CLUB

Weekly Dance at Westmoreland Club To-Night—Mrs. Landstreet to Entertain at Lunch. Mrs. Robert Davy Eaglesfield and her small son, Robert Davy Eaglesfield, Jr., arrived in Richmond Wedneeday evening, and are now the wosts of Mr. and Mrs. Haskins Hobn at their home, near Bon Air. Mr. and Mrs. Eaglesseld will shortly move from Indianapolis, Ind., to this city, where they will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Haskins Hobson have returned to Virginia, after visiting relatives in the West for an extended stay, and are now at their country place, "Mt. Airy," in Powhatan County. Affairs of To-Day.

Mrs. John Landstreet is giving a luncheon at the Westmoreland Club to-day for the debutantes and some of the visiting men here for Thanksgiving, in honor of her guest, Miss Louise Broyles, of Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Mary James Massie, of the University of Virginia, who is visiting Mrs. M. C. Patterson at "Hillcrest." Miss Massie is a debutante this season, and a number of affairs have been given in her er of affairs have been given in her honor.

This afternoon from 4:30 to 7 o'clock This afternoon from 4:30 to 7 o'clock in the ballroom of the Jefferson Hotel society will be out in force to attend the "the dansant" given by the Girl's Club. The tables will be decorated in lovely bowls and vases of flowers, and an orchestra will play for the dancing, which will be general throughout the afternoon. Some of the leading society women in town belong to the club and this dansant is the first of a series of similar functions to be given throughout the winter.

The usual weekly dance will take place to-night at the Westmoreland Club. The dance is to be held in the nun parlor, and a stringed orchestra will play from 3 to 12 o'clock.

When I want to indulge in what Daudet calls an "orgie of work," I like to take a warm bath, alcohol rub, and dress in fresh linen and a loose gown. How the ideas trip up to the point of the pen! They come so fast that work is an obsession, and a delightful one.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

F. L.: Walking in the fresh air is about the best exercise possible for 'he average man or woman, Never-xercise in any way after the first point of fatigue is reached. Overfatigue is harmful and undoes the benefit of bodily exercise. This holds good of all exercise. Exercising the muscles of the body is absolutely necessary not only to retain the beauty of the figure, but it should form a part of the daily routine with the bath and continual practice of deep breathing.

Mrs. C. N.: If you don't want to grow old get rid of the old age thought. Never allude to yourself as old or dress older than you are or feel that you are old. Get interested in something outside of yourself. If you have so much time on your hands as you say you do, why don't you join some club that is interested in some special work which you would like? Get out among people more than you do. Even though you do live in a small town, surely there is something which you could become interested in.

K. L. J.: If you want to keep young you must keep interested. The youngest women for their age are the women that work. This does not mean they were necessarily breadwinners, but they do not lead idle lives. I should advise every woman who has much time on her hands to get interested in some vital question or a hobby of some kind, according to her taste.

Reply: Eyestrain sometimes causes dull headache after considerable use of the eyes. Vomiting, however, is rarely if ever attributable to weak eyes. An examination of your eves by a medical eye specialist is the only way in the world for you to find out.

CHAPTER CXL-AT LAST!

Croker Weds Indian Princess

invited to the wedding.

The bride was given away by her uncle, W. W. Hastings, who for fifteen years has been attorney for the Chero-kees, and who recently was elected to Congress from Oklahoma.

A typewritten statement given out by the bride after the ceremony made clear a good deal of her life history, which had been reported in many dif-ferent ways since knowledge of her engagement became known. The state-ment said she was an Indian princess, known as Pricess Sequence or Ketan ment said she was an Indian princess, known as Princess Sequoyah or Ketaw Kaluntuchy among her tribe. Her father, the statement continued, was Michael Smith Edmondson, a descendant of Roger de Montgomery, who commanded the van of the Norman army at the battle of Hastings, and her mother was Galela Welch, who descended from the famous chief Se-whether I ought to tell you yet or He paused, eying her uncertainly,

"I am prepared," Judith assured him calmly.

"You're nothing of the sort," he countered, argumentative. "You couldn't be. It's the most amazing thing imaginable. . . See here. . . ."

"We!1?" 'You understand, don't you, that Alan must never know that Rose was killed by that lightning stroke?" "What do you mean?"

"I mean," the man floundered miserably, "you see, he loved her so-I thought—I'm sure it would be best thought—I'm sure it would be best—if you can bring yourself to it—to let him go on believing it wasn't Rose who was killed, but Judith. And thar's skating so close to the truth that it makes no difference: the Judith Alan knew and the Judith I knew in the beginning is gone as completely as though she and not Rose had been killed."

After a long pause, the girl asked him quietly: "I understand. But is it possible you don't understand that, if I were to consent to this proposition, lend myself to a deception which I must maintain through all my life to come—Alan would consider the his wife?"

"Well, but—you see—you are his wife. . . Oh, don't think I'm off my bat. I'm telling you the plain, unvarnished truth. You are Alan's wife. ... No, listen to me. You remember that day in New York when you substituted for Rose, when Alan tried to elope with her, and you went with him to Jorsey City, and stood up to be married by a preacher-guy named Wright—and Marrophat broke in just the critical moment and husted up at the critical moment and busted up "Well?" she demanded breathlessly.

Barcus produced a folded yellow pa-per from his coat pocket and proffered it. "Read that. It was handed to me

"Read that. It was handed to me as test man, just before the ceremony. Seeing it was addressed to Alan, and knowing he was in no frame of mind to be bothered by telegrams, I slipped it into my pocket and forgot all about it temporarily. When I came to ind it, I took the liberty of reading it. But read it for yourself.

The typewritten lines of the long message blurred and ran together almost indecipherably in Judith's vision. None the less she contrived to grasp the substance of its meaning.

"Why didn't you wire me sooner?" it ran. "Marriage to Rose impossible. Rev. Mr. Wright informed me your marriage to Judith last week had gone too far when Marrophat inter rupted. Judith legally your wife. Would have advised you sooner had you let me know where to address you. Hope to Heaven this gets to you before too late."

The message was signed with the name of Alan's confidential man of business in New York.
